

What will happen when the West meets the East in the world of experiential education?

On August 7-14, 2010, the 1st Asia Conference of the Association for Experiential Education (AEEAC 2010) will be held in Shanghai, China with pre and post conference events in Xiamen, Chengdu and Taiwan. This event will mark a milestone in the development of a collaborative relationship between AEE and Asian experiential education.

AEEAC 2010 will be hosted by and presented in conjunction with Gung-Ho China. With more than 300 educators, consultants, facilitators, practitioners and supporters expected to participate, the discussions and exchange of knowledge that will take place has the potential to positively influence up to 16,000,000 educators and 30,000,000 college and university students throughout China.
